Suncoast Tampa Association of Realtors

4590 Ulmerton Road, Clearwater, FL

The Angels will host the 15th Annual Child Advocacy Expo, bringing community partners together to network and learn about resources that support children and families. This year's event will feature several new agencies sharing their missions and services.

The Expo is designed to unite local agencies, charities, and organizations connected to the child welfare system for a morning of networking and information sharing. All major stakeholders are encouraged to attend, with an emphasis on collaboration to strengthen support for children.

The morning will include a meet-and-greet with local agencies, community leaders, business owners, and donors interested in community resources and service needs. Attendees may visit agency tables to learn about issues affecting children and the resources needed to support them. Each participating community agency with a reserved table will be entered into a drawing for a $500 donation from the Angels; tickets will be provided at check-in.

The Expo also welcomes potential donors who want to learn more about local community initiatives. Registration details are available on the website for guests, students, and other participants. For more information, contact Sandy.
