

A HOME TO CALL MY OWN

When a dog comes into rescue as a stray, there's always an element of mystery. What happened to this dog? Who loses a dog and doesn't try to find it? Where has she been? But all too often we ask the most heartbreaking question of all....how did she get to be in this deplorable condition?

That's the question the GSRNC evaluators asked when they met Cindy at the county animal shelter. This sweet, senior girl was found limping and bleeding from several masses on her body. One look and it was obvious we had to help this poor girl.

Once rescued by GSRNC, Cindy got the medical attention she desperately needed. She had surgery to remove body masses and received some much needed dental care. She came in with stiff hips and a backbone that wasn't very flexible. Now that she's getting vitamins, exercise and proper nutrition, she's much more active.

Cindy has long mended from her surgeries and ailments and is looking for her forever home. Maybe it could be yours! Cindy is a sweet, people-focused dog looking for a companion. She spends the night in a crate with the door open and starts the day looking for affection and sharing her moose toy. Her ideal day would be spent by your side. She just loves pets and having someone talk to her. As evening approaches she puts herself to bed around 9:00 pm.

During the day Cindy enjoys spending time outside wandering around and watching the birds, squirrels and deer; however, she prefers being with her people. Cindy is about nine years old. She is alert yet is careful about things like hardwood floors and stairs.

Cindy knows basic commands and appreciates a routine. She is a mature, average weight female (65 lbs.) Shepherd and displays typical GSD traits. She's got a guard dog's heart and will place herself between her family and strangers. Cindy's not completely comfortable with other dogs so an ideal home for her would probably be one without other pets.

While Cindy will not be a running partner, she still needs activity and loves a good walk. This sweet girl is a real treasure and deserves to find a great home. Could there be a dog bed in your home waiting for her? If you're interested in adopting Cindy, please click here to start the process by filling out an Adoption Questionnaire.
