In the name of Christ WELCOME!

Although you may be a stranger to us, you are no stranger to God, who knows you and loves you, and whose heart is glad at your presence here. We sincerely hope this time of worship will bless your life.

As you are able, please stand for acts of worship indicated by an asterisk (*).

UMH indicates The United Methodist Hymnal (red book in pew rack).

TFWS indicates The Faith We Sing (thin black book in pew rack).

Help us sustain God's creation by placing used worship bulletins in the basket on the credenza in the back of the sanctuary for recycling.

WELCOME AND ANNOUNCEMENTS

PRELUDE

INTROIT Create in Me a Clean Heart The Chancel Choir

CALL TO WORSHIP (Responsively)

When we are lost and uncertain,
God provides prophets and storytellers to guide us toward the Truth.

When we are in need of rescue,
God provides refuge and shelter during our darkest days.

When we are looking, seeking and hoping,
God provides open arms to welcome us with love and faithfulness.

Come! Let us worship.

HYMN Come, Ye Sinners, Poor and Needy UMH 340

OPENING PRAYER (in Unison)

Loving God, our rock and foundation, we thank you for the opportunity to gather in your holy name. May this be a time when we remember your faithfulness. You give us hope when despair creeps into our lives. You carve out a path when we lack direction. You send family members, friends and even strangers when we need reminders of your promise. And you sent Jesus the Christ, your beloved Son, to show us how to live the human life in your ways. May we open our hearts to receive all that you provide. Amen.

GOSPEL LESSON: LUKE 16:19-31 (CEB)

¹⁹ "There was a certain rich man who clothed himself in purple and fine linen, and who feasted luxuriously every day. ²⁰ At his gate lay a certain poor man named Lazarus who was covered with sores. ²¹ Lazarus longed to eat the crumbs that fell from the rich man's table. Instead, dogs would come and lick his sores.

²² "The poor man died and was carried by angels to Abraham's side. The rich man also died and was buried. ²³ While being tormented in the place of the dead, he looked up and saw Abraham at a distance with Lazarus at his side. ²⁴ He shouted, 'Father Abraham, have mercy on me. Send Lazarus to dip the tip of his finger in water and cool my tongue, because I'm suffering in this flame.' ²⁵ But Abraham said, 'Child, remember that during your lifetime you received good things, whereas Lazarus received terrible things. Now Lazarus is being comforted and you are in great pain. ²⁶ Moreover, a great crevasse has been fixed between us and you. Those who wish to cross over from here to you cannot. Neither can anyone cross from there to us.'

²⁷ "The rich man said, 'Then I beg you, Father, send Lazarus to my father's house. ²⁸ I have five brothers. He needs to warn them so that they don't come to this place of agony.' ²⁹ Abraham replied, 'They have Moses and the Prophets. They must listen to them.' ³⁰ The rich man said, 'No, Father Abraham! But if someone from the dead goes to them, they will change their hearts and lives.' ³¹ Abraham said, 'If they don't listen to Moses and the Prophets, then neither will they be persuaded if someone rises from the dead.'"

The Word of God for the people of God.

Thanks be to God.

Jumping on the blogging bandwagon

In a world where everyone shares everything, blogs are nothing new. The adage “write about what you know” has, in fact, never been more apropos.

Extends the life of the sermon ~ Sermons should have a shelf life that lasts past one Sunday. Sermons can continue to preach all week through use as the basis for a post on a blog. Since most bloggers keep their pieces short (about 600 words), one sermon may actually be used to write a series. A blog can include text prepared for the sermon that didn’t make the final cut. Links to other resources such as commentaries, videos or music can enhance a reader’s biblical knowledge and encourage further study. Of course, blogs are also a great evangelical tool that allows you to share the gospel with people who might otherwise not attend church or read the Bible.

Connects your congregation ~ During most Sunday services, a congregation can’t “talk back” or participate in a group discussion around the topic at hand. But that’s the beauty of a blog. Conversation is encouraged; in fact, it’s the goal. Blogs give readers a way to interact with the author and other readers about sermon subjects, questions of faith and other spiritual topics. By encouraging comments and interacting with the readers, you can discover what’s on the hearts and minds of your congregation and help guide them in a new way.

Helps draw and keep visitors ~ Visitors to your church website may not want to take the time to listen to a podcast or watch a sermon. Websites may include pastor and staff bios, but they don’t help newbies discover the culture of your church. Blogs are perfect for introducing your church to the world. Short worship clips, staff interviews and guest authors can add variety to your blog and give a broader picture of your church dynamics. Posts can also address popular visitor questions and events to encourage engagement.

Promotes community goodwill ~ You can use your blog to highlight different ways that the church serves your community. In this way, the blog can serve two purposes. It can help your congregation see ways they can become more involved. It can also help the public better understand how your church contributes to the life of your community. Including pictures and action items can garner even greater results. Because of their personal nature, blogs are also a great way to minister to the community (and your congregation) during particularly difficult events, though never as a substitute for personal pastoral care.

Blogs are a versatile, cheap and relatively easy way to capitalize on the benefits of social media. Sites such as WordPress, Squarespace and Site123 are among the many that offer user-friendly (and sometimes free) interfaces that make the set-up pain-free. Once the blog is up and running, the most important (and difficult) task is simply to write — often and with consistency. Writing can be a one-person job or something that you parcel out to various team members to lighten the load. ~ United Methodist Communications

Learn how to receive local church ministry grant

The Rev. Dr. Ted Smith, Virginia Conference Director of Connectional Ministries, is pleased to announce the availability of grant funds specifically for new local church ministries. The grant is a Special Ministries Grant for the 2020 calendar year. Fund eligibility includes: ministries that are specifically through local churches, ministries that began in the 2019 calendar year or proposed 2020 ministries, ministries that have not previously been funded by any conference funding organizations. Funds are also limited below the normal $10,000 grant level. Applications are available at www.vaumc.org/CommonTableGrants and should be submitted by Nov. 1 to be considered.

Upcoming events for youth, young adults

Exploration 2019, Nov. 1-3, is an event for college students who are exploring a call into ministry. Exploration creates sacred space for young adults, ages 18-26, to be in meaningful fellowship, passionate worship, theological reflection, and practical workshops as they discern whether God's call on their life is to ordained ministry in The United Methodist Church and what faithful steps they can take in response. Valuing the Voices in Our Church is an opportunity for high school sophomores, juniors, and seniors to come together to explore their own gifts and graces for leadership, consider what vocation God is calling them to and to hear and grow in appreciation of a diverse chorus of voices who are leading in the church today. Participants will gather at Randolph-Macon College in Ashland, Va. on Saturday, Oct. 26. The remaining meetings will be virtual throughout the year.

Scholarships and loans are available for seminarians. For more information on either event, contact the Rev. Joanna Dietz in the Center for Clergy Excellence at JoannaDietz@vaumc.org.

Give to aid Bahamian recovery

As Hurricane Dorian wreaked havoc on the Bahamas, United Methodist Committee on Relief (UMCOR) awarded a solidarity grant to Bahamas Methodist Habitat, the Disaster Ministry of the Bahamas Conference of the Methodist Church. This grant provides immediate, emergency short-term funding to address the basic human needs of those affected by this catastrophic storm. Join with UMCOR by donating to our disaster response and recovery funds. Thank you for your continued prayers and support. Give to International Disaster Response and Recovery (Advance # 982450).
