

Department of Neurology Biorepository

Researchers at Beth Israel Deaconess Medical Center's Department of Neurology are collecting biosamples (for example, blood) for research

These samples will be used to learn more about neurological disorders and problems

This study may be a good fit if you are:

- An adult BIDMC Neurology patient
- Or, interested in being a healthy control

If you decide to take part in the research study, you would:

- Provide blood, cerebrospinal fluid, and/or saliva samples
- Be offered to provide additional samples in the future
- Have your samples and information stored in a biorepository for future research

Location of Research:

This study does not require you to come to BIDMC for additional visits. Collection of your samples will usually be done at the same time and place that you are seen for a clinic or research study visit.

There are no direct benefits and no payment for being in this study. However, your participation may help others as a result of the knowledge gained from this research.

To take part in our department biorepository, or for more information, please contact our study team at NeuroRepository @bidmc.harvard.edu or (617) 667-0605
