

Sherry Ann Sinkler Wright

Our beloved Sherry Ann Sinkler-Wright was born in McKeesport, Pennsylvania on the 2nd day of January in 1959 to her loving parents, Agnes and Eddie Sinkler. She was the middle child of three of her other siblings. Her sisters' names are Denise and Carol Sinkler and her brother's name is Bryant Sinkler. Sherry graduated from McKeesport Senior High School, received her bachelor's degree from Edinboro University, then later on moved to California in the 1980s to work on her master's degree at Holy Names University. She got married to Joseph Lebron Wright Sr. in 1986 and they had her first child one year later and his name was Joseph Lebron Wright II. One year and four months later she gave birth to her 2nd son, Shane Bryant Wright. Sherry and Joseph had their last child in 1998, and her name was Samara Myami Wright. Sherry Ann Sinkler-Wright was a very hardworking mother who did everything for her kids. Nothing else was more important to her than her children.

She took very good care of her kids while finishing school to get her master's degree in special education and started her first career working as an attorney's assistant in San Francisco. A couple of years later, she worked as a principal at Bretharte Middle School, then, later on taught music to children at many schools around California. She was also a piano teacher and many of her students loved being around her because she was so positive and so full of light and wisdom. She was very passionate about music, singing, and playing the piano. Singing and playing the piano were her special, extraordinary talents. Whenever she got on stage or performed at church, she gave it her all and didn't hold back one bit! Sherry knew many people, was very loving and caring to many children, her friends, and especially her family. If anyone knew Sherry, they would know that she was caring, tough, determined, smart, intelligent, and loved music and her children more than anything else in the whole world.

Ms. Sherry was a strong, independent woman who didn't rely on others. She faced and fought through many challenges in her life and stayed strong. She was the type of woman who would drop everything she's doing, no matter how important it is, to help her family and friends. To her, it was more about giving than getting anything back in return.

She was a loving and caring Christian woman who had a soul like no one else. Sherry Ann grew up going to Zion Baptist Church in McKeesport, Pennsylvania. After she retired, she began playing and attending many other churches around the San Francisco bay area. She never doubted God's blessings and always prayed for strength and happiness to come her way. She had such a pure soul and didn't have any hatred for anyone. Praising the lord everyday was her main priority and it got her through every struggle that she went through all throughout her whole life.

Sherry Ann Sinkler-Wright enjoyed her life and appreciated all of those who have stayed in it with her. Her best times were with her family, her daughter and sons. She would always love to bug and cheer up her children by purposely singing out loud, being goofy and making funny faces, telling them hilarious stories, and reciting movie lines from her and the family's favorites. Everytime she would do any of those things, it never failed to make any of her children smile. To this day, her children will always cherish and look back to those amazing memories that they had shared with their mother.

On July 1st, sometime in the afternoon with only God knowing, an Angel came and Sherry Ann Sinkler-Wright's journey on earth ended, and she started her new life journey with our Christ. She was greeted on the other side by her beloved mother and father, Agnes and Eddie Sinkler. She leaves behind a host of her daughter Samara, her two sons Joseph and Shane, siblings, nieces and nephews, and the rest of her family along with her beloved friends, including Sharryl Henry-Kokoska, Arva Campbell, Gwen Mitchell, Regina Brooks-Day, Ronald Matthews, Devi Willaman, Dr. Mike Lahey, Sylvester Burks, Frank Guzman, Gale Rodriquez, Connie Diaz, Suamy Alvarez, Donald Allen, and with her beloved Pastor Greggory L. Brown. Sherry's spirit is now with the lord and within her family and friends! She will truly be missed by many.
