

2018 Charles Mraz Apitherapy Course and Conference

Apitherapy Theory into Practice

October 26-28, 2018

The Hotel Providence, 139 Mathewson Street, Providence, RI 02903

SAVE THE DATE!

Contact: The American Apitherapy Society
aasoffice@apitherapy.org

Photo by James Turner

The American Apitherapy Society proudly announces its 22nd annual Charles Mraz Apitherapy Course & Conference to be held at the Hotel Providence, a landmark property located in the heart of downtown Providence's Arts and Entertainment District. Downtown Providence is just 10-15 minutes from Warwick's T.F. Green Airport (PVD) offering easy access to the conference venue and all that downtown Providence has to offer. Invest in your health and join us for a weekend of Apitherapy while perhaps extending your stay in the area to enjoy the many local attractions such as museums, shops, restaurants, theaters, galleries and outdoor adventures, and perhaps experience Providence's signature event...WaterFire.

Medical doctors, a spectrum of holistic health practitioners, veterinarians, researchers, backyard beekeepers, and members of the general public interested in self-reliant health care will convene from all over the United States and the world to learn about apitherapy. Apitherapy, an ancient healing modality, refers to the therapeutic use of products from the beehive: Honey, pollen, royal jelly, propolis, bees wax, and bee venom.

Attendees will receive basic training in the therapeutic properties of each of the hive products including hands on practical bee venom therapy sessions where participants will obtain practical experience with this amazing healing practice. Presentations are given by the American Apitherapy Society, Inc. faculty who are some of the most prominent and experienced Apitherapists in the world. Examples of material covered in these presentations are allergic reactions, techniques of BVT, informed consent and legal issues, propolis and cancer, Lyme disease, Parkinson's disease, veterinary apitherapy, wound healing, and much more. Certificates of completion will be available to all participants.

The AAS is a nonprofit membership organization established for the purpose of education in the advancement of Apitherapy. CMACC has been named in memory of Charles Mraz, an American pioneer in the use of bee venom to treat diseases.

All CMACC 2018 information and registration is now available at www.apitherapy.org where you are able to view all CMACC information and register for the course online. Conference information will also be shared and distributed via our free monthly newsletter from now until the conference date including any updates or changes. You can sign up to receive the monthly newsletter via a link at the bottom of our home page on the website.

There is an early registration incentive with reduced fees for those registering on or before September 15, 2018 so BE AN EARLY BEE and don't miss out on this opportunity!

Membership or a one year renewal to AAS is included with the course fee. For further questions please contact the AAS office at aasoffice@apitherapy.org. Looking forward to seeing you there!