

COVID-19 Research Community Forum: Week 4

Want to learn about the latest COVID-19 research happening here at home?

Meet online with researchers from the four federally-funded Clinical and Translational Science programs in Massachusetts to hear about how they're working together to protect us from COVID-19. During the discussion portion, we are planning to address the health equity concerns raised by community constituents and hope you will join us for the conversation.

Please join us for week four of our Community Forum:
Building a research infrastructure for equity in COVID-19 treatment
