

Mendocino County Library – A Prepared and Resilient County

Friday, April 12, Seed Library Planting Party 1 – 3 pm Ready to start some seeds for your garden? The Round Valley Branch will have a table at the Farmers Market with empty 6-packs, soil, and seeds, planting calendars, and more! Seed Library Planting parties, which happen in March, April, and May, support the goal of having a prepared and resilient community by providing tools and information for food security.

Join Ukiah Branch Library staff as we host our next poetry event in person on Saturday, April 20 at 3:00 p.m. for a reading with Santa Clara County Poet Laureate Emeritus, Sally Ashton, followed by our open mic. This free event is open to both teens & adults – all are invited to share poems in any form or style, or just listen to others. Sally Ashton is a poet, writer, teacher, and editor-in-chief of DMQ Review, an online journal featuring poetry and art. She taught writing at San José State University for 10 years. Her prose poem, “4.6 Billion Years” will go to the Moon as part of the Lunar Codex project via the Griffin/VIPER mission in 2024.
