Why this Summit Matters

Besides being our first national convening, this event matters because primary care is the foundation of a healthy society—but access is declining, costs are rising, and communities are losing trusted providers. This national gathering brings together leaders, innovators, and advocates to discuss solutions and take action.

We welcome:

- Clinicians and health care professionals
- Students and trainees entering the field
- Policy leaders and researchers
- Health system administrators
- Community leaders and advocates

Anyone interested in building a stronger primary care system is encouraged to attend.
