

Thriving with Intellectual Disability – A Photo-elicitation Study

We are looking for teens (12-18 years of age) with intellectual disability for an online photography study.

What is the research about?

We are interested in learning about what thriving, or being one's "best self," means for youth with intellectual disability and their families.

What does participation involve?

Canadian youth and parents can participate. This study involves sharing photos and participating in a virtual interview with a researcher. All aspects of this study will be conducted online.

I'm interested! What next?

For more information, please contact Annie Mills at millsas@yorku.ca, or Dr. Jonathan Weiss, Principal Investigator on the study, at jonweiss@yorku.ca.

Limited space is available, so families will be contacted on a first come, first serve basis.

