

Applying research to life: a research symposium for patients and families interested in childhood disability research

CanChild and Kids Brain Health Network are excited to host Luke's Legacy Family Research Rounds, a new series of monthly virtual research presentations for families, patients, and researchers. Presentations are designed in a family-friendly format with an interactive discussion component.

On Wednesday April 28 @ 7 p.m. EST (Ontario time) join Linda Nguyen, Hanae Davis, Jessica Havens and Samantha Bellefeuille to talk about The Art of Sibling Science: The multifaceted roles of siblings and how they are captured in childhood disability research.

Register here:

<https://lukes-legacy-april.eventbrite.ca>

For more information, contact Kinga Pozniak or Rachel Martens fer@mcmaster.ca

