

Church ^{of the} Redeemer
PARISH DAY SCHOOL

Dear Redeemer Community,

In one of our recent chapel services, Mother O. shared the Creation Story with our students. In the Creation Story, God sets out to do what must have felt like an extraordinary, insurmountable task. He created the universe.

While we can hardly compare much to creating a universe, if you are like me, life today feels extraordinary, and at times, insurmountable. As we live amid a pandemic, civil and racial unrest, and an uncertain political climate; finding the good is more important than ever. Fortunately, life at PDS teaches us we don't have to look far.

Our students' enthusiasm and zeal for being in school, their willingness to adapt to change, and their natural ability to embrace difference is not just admirable but something we should all strive to attain. Our faculty are equally as impressive. The sacrifices they make and their commitment as educators in a pandemic, touch not just the lives of their students, but also our society in general. What they are doing today will make a positive impact for years to come.

As I witness the energy of PDS, I take great comfort knowing life is full of hope and goodness. Perhaps we are all in the midst a writing a new kind of Creation Story, and in the end, everything will be more beautiful than imagined!

Have a wonderful weekend and safe Halloween!

Best regards,
Mary
