

Hello Children and Families!

How are the children of God doing this week? I hope everyone has had a chance to take in the beautiful weather. I have drenched myself in sunshine and vitamin D, along with eating on the patio and enjoying the cool evenings. The other morning I saw the first fawn of the season. Nature reminds me of our perfect God and the wonder he provides for us each day. On my walk, I spotted an Eastern bluebird for the first time and listened to the many cardinals sing their songs. I am united with God every day when I am on the lookout for his majestic bounty that is right outside my door. I will keep watching for God's awesomeness this week and hope you will too.

Children's Chapel

Lessons post to our media channels (Facebook, YouTube, and the St. John's website) at 2:00 p.m. each Sunday. This week we will talk about the Holy Spirit, John 14:16. Father Ripp and I will see you live on Facebook on Sunday at 10:00 a.m. for a Family Devotions service.

Flowers for the Altar

Thank you to Olivia and Hattie Green for this week's altar flowers. If you would like to create flowers for our virtual services, place your flowers (any medium) in the yellow box outside the office doors or text me 210-663-8074 to arrange a pick-up. The flowers will get delivered to St. John's members afterward. Be sure to put your name on your design.

Camp Outreach Update

Camp Outreach will look a little different this year but will remain in June. Stayed tuned for more details on this upcoming event.

Hope and love in Christ,
Ms. Cheryl
