YMWIC Workshops

Workshops #9

The Norristown Blockson Chapter recently hosted a thoughtful and engaging Workshop 9 YMWIC Alumni Panel Discussion featuring four of our accomplished alumni — Janis Bady, Joshua Coleman, Myla Massolena, and Matthew Wilford. The event brought together current Scholars and Alumni for a meaningful exchange of experiences and insights.

Our YMWIC Alumni shared their journeys beyond high school, offering an honest look at college life, career development, and the challenges and successes they've encountered along the way. Their stories highlighted the value of perseverance, adaptability, and continuous learning.

Throughout the discussion, Scholars asked thoughtful questions, gained practical advice, and connected directly with those who once sat where they are now. Topics included time management, decision-making, managing transitions, and maintaining focus on long-term goals. The conversation emphasized the importance of preparation and community support in reaching success.

We extend our sincere thanks to Janis Bady, Joshua Coleman, Myla Massolena, and Matthew Wilford for taking the time to return and share their perspectives with the next generation of YMWIC Scholars. We are proud of our Alumni and look forward to hearing about their great achievements in the future.
