Scholar Spotlight

Arely Sanchez Navarro Norristown Chapter

Hello! My name is Arely Sanchez Navarro, and I am a proud scholar at the Norristown Chapter of YMWIC, where I've been a member since the 7th grade. I currently attend Blockson Middle School and will be entering the 8th grade this fall.

One of the things I love most about YMWIC is the wide range of opportunities it offers. From college tours to community service and challenging projects, the Program truly pushes us to grow. The biggest impact on me has been gaining confidence in public speaking, especially after completing my Science Project. This experience has shown me that I'm capable of more than I ever imagined.

Looking ahead, my goal is to become either a business owner or a real estate agent after I graduate. To younger or new scholars, my advice is to always do your best, even if you think you can't. If you believe in yourself and work hard, you'll be amazed at what you can achieve.

For those who may not know much about YMWIC, it's a fantastic program that not only helps you learn and develop new skills but also supports your academic growth by keeping your grades up and helping you build strong study habits. Plus, you get to meet amazing people and share unique experiences.

Outside of academics, I'm proud to have earned honor rolls in every subject. I also stay active with track and soccer, and I've been playing the violin for four years. In my free time, I enjoy reading, painting, spending time outdoors, learning French, and, of course, practicing my violin.

YMWIC has had a significant impact on my life, and I'm excited to see what the future holds!
