Boluwatife McKenna Upper Darby Chapter

Boluwatife McKenna is an 11th grade student at Upper Darby High School and is new to YMWIC this year. She is proud to say, “I have received Distinguished Honor Roll on my report cards all through 10th grade and just received it on my first report for this school year! I also have many awards involving school behavior and academic success.” Boluwatife is also actively involved in many clubs at school. They include PSC, Student Advisory, Service Club, Science National Honor Society, National Art Honor Society, and Annenberg Science Symposium.

Boluwatife enjoys interacting with people in the Foundation especially Site Coordinator, Heather Leamon. She says Ms. Leamon has been very kind and helpful. She will be forever grateful for the many opportunities that have already been provided in her short time as a member of YMWIC and is looking forward to seeing what is to come.

As a career, Boluwatife would like to be an Emergency Physician; and her dream college to attend is the University of Pennsylvania or Stanford University. She is also interested in several other colleges which include Muhlenberg College, University of Scranton, Providence College, and Case Western University.

In her free time, Boluwatife enjoys drawing, reading, hiking/running, and learning about anatomy/biology (science is her favorite subject). Boluwatife, YMWIC staff and Scholars welcome and support you! Continue doing well.
