Scholar Spotlight

Gianna Kurian Upper Darby Chapter

Gianna Kurian, a first-year YMWIC Scholar, just completed 10th grade at Upper Darby High School. Her explanation for joining the Foundation is, "I want to be involved in YMWIC because I believe it will expose me to places, lessons, and new experiences that will help me further my education as well as impact my personal development. YMWIC appears to be an amazing group to be involved with, because it will better prepare me for college and my future career. It will also expose me to how future experiences may be and teach me how to handle them best."

Gianna now says, "I have benefited from the programs offered by YMWIC. As a future first-generation college student, I will learn valuable lessons about, and be exposed to, professional environments and different aspects of college and the workplace."

Gianna is considering a major in Psychology in college with an interest in becoming a licensed Psychologist and starting her own practice. Her other college-related interests include joining clubs for first-generation students, playing the clarinet, and being involved in activities that give back to the community.

We appreciate your dedication and commitment to YMWIC, Gianna.
