Scholar Spotlight

Arianna Kelsey Norristown Blockson Chapter

Meet Arianna Kelsey, a 5th grade Scholar at East Norriton Middle School and one of the newest members of YMWIC. Arianna joined the Foundation this year and has already been making the most of the workshops and project support sessions, where she not only completes her homework but also learns about fascinating experiments.

Since becoming part of YMWIC, Arianna has noticed a positive impact on her ability to manage her time and study more effectively. She is focused on her future and dreams of becoming a teacher, with Penn State already on her radar as her college of choice.

Arianna offers valuable advice for younger and new Scholars: "Study hard, get good grades, and don't become overwhelmed. Stay focused and engaged in the Program, because it guides you to become your best self." Her commitment to learning and growth is reflected in her achievements which include leadership awards, certificates for her dedication, and punctuality in submitting assignments.

Outside of her academic pursuits, Arianna is a well-rounded individual with a passion for sports and the arts. She has played softball, basketball, and participated in track and field. Additionally, she enjoys playing the violin and was even part of a musical play at her previous school. In her free time, Arianna loves spending time outdoors with her little sister and relaxing with her iPad.

We are excited to have Arianna as part of the YMWIC family and look forward to seeing her continued success as she grows into a confident and accomplished Scholar.
