Scholar Spotlight

Oyin Olowu Upper Darby Chapter

Oyin Olowu, an 11th-grade Scholar at Upper Darby High School, has been part of YMWIC since her freshman year. She loves the connections she's built and the opportunities to give back through Community Service, which she finds especially rewarding.

"The biggest impact YMWIC has had on me is the support and help they've provided," says Oyin, who aspires to pursue a career in the medical field, focusing on surgery or neuroscience. She's aiming for top schools like University of Pennsylvania, Georgetown University, and The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

A Distinguished Honor Roll student, Oyin balances academics with her passion for lacrosse, soccer, and music, playing both the piano and viola. In her spare time, she enjoys learning more about her future career and spending time with her peers.

Her advice to other Scholars: "Never be afraid to ask for help. It shows you're strong and determined."

With her dedication to learning, service, and community, Oyin is a shining example of how the YMWIC Program can have a lasting and positive impact on the lives of its Scholars.
