

YOUNG MEN AND WOMEN IN CHARGE
FOUNDATION, INC.

Scholar Spotlight

Savannah Freeman West Chester Chapter

We are excited to feature Savannah Freeman for the West Chester Chapter this month. Savannah is a dedicated fifth-grade Scholar attending Sarah Starkweather Elementary School. She joined YMWIC when she was in third grade and has become an active participant in the Foundation's community-focused programs.

When asked what she enjoys most about YMWIC, Savannah shared that it's the sense of community that has had the greatest impact on her. She feels that her experience with the Foundation has helped her develop stronger public speaking skills, an essential part of her growth.

Savannah has big dreams for her future, hoping to pursue a career as a dancer. She is already considering colleges such as Lincoln University, Spelman College, and Manor College as she looks toward her future. Her advice to younger and new Scholars is straightforward but powerful: "Never give up, no matter how hard it is." She believes YMWIC is a valuable resource that not only helps with school but also fosters a supportive community.

In addition to her academic and community achievements, Savannah plays the clarinet and enjoys spending her free time playing outside. We are proud to have Savannah as a part of the YMWIC family and look forward to seeing her continue to grow and inspire those around her.