At this workshop, PMBC will be presenting its newly updated online business-to-business connection and events platform. PMBC has spent the past year working with Ann Arbor-based firm Connect Space to develop a new website and mobile application that allows suppliers to seamlessly access all facets of PMBC's B2B tools. Colin Dillon, Data and Strategy Manager for Pure Michigan Business Connect, will be on hand to present the new system to everyone in attendance as well as answer any questions about how to maximize the system for the benefit of your company.

Companies are encouraged to sign up for the new PMBC platform in advance of the event by visiting: pmbc.connect.space. By creating an account for your business you will be able to see all upcoming PMBC summits and other matchmaking initiatives, apply for the procurement opportunities your company can meet, RSVP and see details for events that you have applied to, and the status of those applications, communicate directly with suppliers and buyers that will be attending the same events as you, and provide post-event feedback to PMBC.

BRING TO WORKSHOP

It is suggested that attendees bring their laptops so you can walk through the site along with the presenter and ask questions you may have regarding functionality of the platform or specific questions about your profiles.
