

LOST MURAL

After decades of dreaming and planning, the Lost Mural Project's goal of rescue, cleaning and restoration will be achieved by the Spring of 2022!! This is Spring

Conservators from the Williamstown Art Conservation Center are working on the final infill and coloring of the Lost Mural, along with Ben Zion Black's original artistic perspective as he created and viewed it in 1910.

The Friends of the Lost Mural Board are eager to share the results of our community's efforts with you and the mural's international community of supporters.

Guided tours of the completed Lost Mural will be scheduled this summer and fall, and several special celebration events are being planned. The Educational Initiative in connection with the mural is well underway, with grants having been submitted for oral interviews, films and panel discussions with international experts. Arrangements are also being made to share the Lost Mural Project's information with educational groups around the state and museums around the world.

Watch for information about exciting upcoming events!

Please address further inquiries about the Lost Mural to Becky Holt, LMP Communications & Development Director at beckyholtvt@gmail.com. or check our website: www.lostmural.org.

