

LUNCH & LEARN

December's Lunch & Learn featured Natalie Neuert, Director of the UVM Lane Series and teacher in the Honors College and the Jewish Studies program, who brought us into the fascinating life and career of Stefan Zweig, a literary superstar in the Weimar period in Germany.

Natalie's presentation was recorded. To access it, click on this link: Lunch & Learn 12/16/21 on You Tube

January 13                      Fraud, Scams and Con Artists: Coming to a Computer Near You The why, how and basic defense regarding scams perpetrated over the Internet

Please join us for a presentation and conversation with Elliott Greenblott, AARP Vermont Fraud Watch Coordinator

This presentation addresses the latest cyber threats and how to recognize malicious emails and pop-ups, as well as WiFi issues arising from the increased use of tablets and smartphones.

Elliott Greenblott is a nationally recognized authority on fraud and scams. A retired educator, he serves as the volunteer coordinator of the AARP Vermont Fraud Watch Network, writes about fraud and scams for several New England newspapers, and is a nationally recognized speaker and television producer. Having grown up in Burlington, where his family were members of OZ, he is a longtime resident of Brattleboro.

February 17                      The Milk with Dignity Program, Created by Migrant Justice Vermont

Please join us for a presentation and conversation with representatives from Migrant Justice Vermont about the Milk with Dignity Program

Migrant Justice is a grassroots community organization founded and led by the immigrant farmworker community working on dairy farms in Vermont. Their mission is to build the voice, capacity and power of the farmworker community and engage community partners to organize for economic justice and human rights. Ben & Jerry's was the first company to join the Milk with Dignity Program in 2017. Currently the organization is campaigning to bring the Hannaford chain on board.
