DESIGN MEETS TECH

Nov 1 | 2023 | NY CITY

Technology has the power to enhance a design. No longer known as a clump of unsightly wires and buttons, smart home tech has evolved to include beautiful and often invisible products. Clients now know all about how this tech can make their lives simpler; you as the designer need to know what to specify to make their home even more lovely.

Connected Design is hosting this exclusively for those designers looking for education around smart home tech. Along with a panel on the smart home, meet with tech manufacturers presenting their products in a design-friendly fashion. Don't miss out on this rare opportunity to grow your business and your knowledge.
