

OUR PEOPLE TAKE PRIDE IN THEIR WORK

FOREMAN RECOGNIZED FOR TIRELESS DEDICATION ON FAST-PACED DATA CENTER PROJECT

S&D FOREMAN, DAVID BARRETT

"I wanted to express my gratitude and give a huge shout out to S&D Foreman, David Barrett. This weekend we had a lot to do because of some major hurdles on the project.

These problems were with countertops, millwork and tile. At every turn we had an issue with drains not fitting with the steel. David figured out a plan for us and we got it done. Then the bowls wouldn't fit with the Millwork. Each time David again gave us the remedy.

What made this so important was David wasn't even performing the work, which is usually the time we find the problems. He saw the problem ahead of time and he would bring it to my attention as well as the subs. I would then direct that sub to repair it so it wouldn't be a game stopper over the weekend. So because of that everything on our end was done and ready for David and his crew to come in on Saturday and perform the work with no hold ups.

On Saturday things didn't go well for David getting a full crew. We had some nasty weather early morning and because of that David was the only one onsite performing the work of three to four people. He made some phone calls and sent out some emails. After awhile another person showed up. Since we were short on people, he now knew he would have to work on Sunday. This is not a normal work day for anyone in the trades, but on this job it had been a normal occurrence. Plus he was going to need a larger crew to finish before his water testing on Monday and inspections on Tuesday. His Project Manager (Ameen Khouri) came through and got him the manpower. They worked today and got everything done that needed to be done for his flush and plumbing inspections . This is awesome especially how accelerated this schedule has been. Any mistake could jeopardize our COO.

In closing, David's perseverance prevailed and he got it done. David's dedication to the job and to Shapiro and Duncan is off the chart. His attention to detail in the field made him see obstacles before it was a major problem. With David at the helm of this job, it has made my job easier because of everything I have written above and that is appreciated. Shapiro and Duncan should be extremely proud of David's dedication to his job, his crews and the company.

I hope to work with David in the future.....ANYTIME!!!!
