

Hunterdon Senior Center Re-opens With Bocce

In Person Programming Began June 7th

Senior Bocce players were joined by the Hunterdon County Board of Commissioners Director Susan J. Soloway to re-open the Bocce courts on June 7, at the Gauntt Place Senior Center in Raritan, as part of the return to in-person senior program plan approved by the Hunterdon County Commissioners.

Director Soloway said, “It is great to see life getting back to normal with the Senior Center’s soft opening that is offering some of the Senior programs in-person. This programming is vital for many of our seniors who rely upon human interaction. I am joined by my colleagues on the Board in welcoming our Seniors back.”

Under the re-opening plan approved by the Board of Commissioners, the Senior Center will continue to offer programs virtually, while also hosting some in-person offerings, with safety for all in mind. Program options and information are available on the website, click here.

Laine Nauman, Senior Services Division Head, said, “The staff and I are so excited to welcome members back. We look forward to offering additional activities soon and appreciate the support of the Commissioner Board as we navigate a path towards fully re-opening, safely.”

In-person programs offered by the Senior Center will have social distancing requirements in place.
