

Hunterdon County Division Of Health Announces New Facebook Page For Residents

The Hunterdon County Division of Health announced a new Facebook page to increase accessibility to all Health Division information for residents. The Facebook page will give all units within the Health Division an opportunity to share valuable information instantly.

County Health Officer Karen DeMarco said, "With programs and skilled staff in the areas of disease prevention and communicable disease control, environmental and consumer services, and public health preparedness, the Division strives to keep the lands of Hunterdon County clean and residents healthy. To help meet this goal, the Division of Health created a Facebook page to allow residents to learn about all of the programs and services available."

By having a Facebook page, the Health Division will have another way of reaching residents with up-to-the-minute information and notifications. Fellow Facebook users simply have to "like" the Health Division page to follow them. Once the page is liked, any posts or notifications will immediately be shared with all followers.

Freeholder Deputy Director Suzanne Lagay, the Board's liaison for the Health Division said, "It is vital to be able to reach our County residents with information in a timely fashion. Facebook, and other social media outlets, seem to be the fastest way to get messages to the public. Information is immediately available to all who "tune-in" and I am happy to see County Divisions utilizing current technology to provide even more security to our residents."

If you are already signed up on Facebook, use the following link to find the Health Division's Facebook page, www.facebook.com/HunterdonCountyHealthDivision/, or to create an account go to www.facebook.com/r.php. Like and follow the Health Division to learn more.