

Elephants in the Living Room Present
Understanding AI (Artificial Intelligence)
Wed., September 23, 1-3:30 pm
Sacred Heart Church Social Hall—1000 Eliot
(near Eastern Market).

AI (Artificial Intelligence) is a significant new development in the ongoing human effort to make the world a better place. But just what is AI? Will it become more of a help, or a hindrance? At this next Elephants Forum, Brendan Newell and Father Dave Buersmeyer will address these questions.

Brendan Newell is the Principal Technical Architect at the Microsoft Innovation Hub. He recently gave a well-received presentation on AI at an Archdiocesan gathering for priests. He has agreed to give us a similar presentation.

After a brief break, he will be followed by Fr. Dave Buersmeyer, who will give us an analysis of Pope Leo XIV's recent Encyclical concerning AI, Magnifica Humanitatis.

As usual, a free will offering will be taken to cover costs. The Sacred Heart Social Hall is located at 1000 Eliot in Eastern Market, just north of Mack Ave. at I-75 in Detroit.

If you would like a light lunch beforehand (Noon–1 pm) please contact Tom Lumpkin at (313) 265-7271, or email him at lumpkinthomas4433@gmail.com, so he will know how much food to provide.
