Biographical Information

Brendan O'Morchoe is the Director of Strategic Alliances at Cornerstone Payment Systems, a faith-based payment processing company committed to serving ministries and businesses who do not violate Christian moral values. He previously served seven years at Students for Life of America in various leadership positions, including Vice President of Strategy, National Director of Pro-Life Future, and National Director of Field Operations. Brendan first became active in conservative causes when he served in leadership roles in college for Students for Life and College Republicans. He received the Young Conservatives Coalitions' Young Conservatives Leadership Fellowship (2013) and Students for Life's National Student Activist of the Year (2010) and is an Eagle Scout. Brendan received a B.A. in Philosophy with a Minor in Political Science from Fordham University, where he was also a varsity swimmer, and is currently working towards an MBA at the University of Illinois. He lives in St. Paul, Minnesota with his wife, Kate.
