

OUR MISSION

The driving mission of the National Architectural Glass and Metal Association (NAGMA) is to further the industry as a whole by promoting jobsite safety, quality workmanship, and constructive labor-management relations. NAGMA carries out that mission by working with union architectural glass and metal contractors, local contractor associations, union partners, and other industry stakeholders in an effort to ensure that safe, quality work is the outcome for every project and that strong contractor associations and labor-management cooperation exists throughout the industry. By doing so, market share preservation and growth can occur for our members.

National Architectural Glass & Metal Association

The services NAGMA provides are rapidly evolving. Our goal is to create a competitive advantage for union architectural glass and metal contractors by:

- Promoting the value of hiring all International Union Painting and Allied Trades' (IUPAT) signatory architectural glass and metal contractors and their highly skilled craftspeople to construction owners, general contractors and the construction community
- Providing resources and coaching for safety and quality management programs to improve business practices and achieve North American Contractor Certification (NACC)
- Endorsing the quality assurances and lifecycle cost savings of hiring NACC contractors and Architectural Glass and Metal Technician (AGMT) certified workers to owners, general contractors, architects and façade consultants
- Assisting contractors, local associations and regional associations with industry representation, advocacy and networking and educational opportunities
- Supporting local areas without union architectural glass and metal associations with the resources to establish one
- Collaborating with IUPAT and their regional affiliates to promote constructive labor-management relationships and expand work opportunities
