The Seven Challenges of the Gifted Child

With Tijn Koenderink

Tuesday, February 26, 2019

6:00 p.m. - 7:30 p.m.

District Administrative Center - Governing Board Room

Summary:

While being gifted can be fun and interesting, it does come with challenges, intellectually as well as socially and emotionally. But what are those challenges and how do we deal with them as a parent? This seminar describes seven main challenges that came up while working with thousands of parents. The concerns apply to gifted children worldwide, and include ways to overcome a fixed mindset, how to use one's memory, stay focused, and how to gain motivation for learning in school. In a spirited presentation Tijn will take you through the seven challenges and, most importantly, practical applications parents can use to address these challenges.

Presenter:

Tijn Koenderink has been involved in hands-on gifted education for over 10 years in the Netherlands and throughout Europe. From setting up full-time gifted programs to a gifted dropout center. From parent training to setting up an innovative public school, he is looking at hands-on ways to make gifted kids thrive.
