ElizaBeth Warner is the Gifted Program Mentor for the Paradise Valley Unified School District in Phoenix, Arizona. In this capacity, she coaches the district's gifted teachers, monitors student progress and maintains a curriculum that accommodates advanced learners. With a passion to provide learning experiences that promote consistent inquiry and exploration, Warner has piloted district programs such as Intel Education Math Leadership, Eureka/Zearn, and Illustrative Mathematics Curriculum, Collaborating with iPads and Implementing Coding in the classroom. She facilitates school and district staff professional development that promotes teaching gifted students in the regular classroom as well as meeting the needs of all learners. Warner has coached cluster teachers and served as a department mentor for new Gifted Specialists. With nearly 15 years of education experience, she has presented at the National Association of Gifted Conference and Arizona Association for Gifted and Talented conferences and represented the PV district at national conferences: Supporting the Needs of the Gifted (SENG), KAGEN Cooperative Learning and the Phil Mickelson/Exxon Mobil Teachers Academy. Additionally, Warner has been a site testing coordinator and teacher leader/mentor. She also serves as a Khan Academy Ambassador and was named by Khan Academy in July 2018 & named one of 15 teachers invited to Khan Academy's first-ever teacher leadership summit for summer 2019. Warner is a National Board Certified Teacher Candidate and completed the final phase of NBCT in May 2019
