

*Spinach and Eggs again, finally!
Peas shoots and salad mix coming soon!
Spring is coming!*

We have been seeing the signs of both plants and animals evolving towards the awakening of spring. Chickens have started laying eggs again after going on strike for a good long while... Onion, scallion and leek seedlings are growing well, tomato and pepper plants have germinated, pea shoots should be ready in a week or so, radishes are germinating, spinach has really started to grow again and salad mix is started its growing journey and in a few weeks it could be on your dinner table... We still have a nice supply of our carrots, beets, parsnips and cabbage. Garlic and potatoes have stored well too. We have been making potato frites a lot to the delight of our whole family. Good to use up the potatoes while they are still great. I have been happy with the storage quality of these potatoes, they are a yellow potato called Soraya.

We hope to see the birth of 3 calves and 2 litters of piglets in the next month or so.

Wild Miller Farm store is open daily, dawn to dusk. Beautiful, local food available for you every day. :) If you need to swing by after dark because of work schedules, just send me a note via text at 603-988-4658 and I can leave the store light on for you. :)
