APRIL 2022

For, lo, the winter is past; the rain is over and gone;
The flowers appear on the earth; the time of the singing of birds is come, and the voice of the turtle is heard in our land.

Song of Solomon 2:11-12 (KJV)

Happy April, Friends! The annual resurrection of the earth is underway as the earth breaks forth into springtime. The spring birds are singing; the peepers are peeping. The flowers are bursting through the crust of mulch and mud, and the buds are swelling with new growth. It's the season of the renewal of life. It's the season of Easter. God plants signs of resurrection all around us. Take notice of your surroundings. Find beauty in the transformation of the world, and know that God is behind it. The ultimate triumph of life over death is underway.

Please join us in worship for the remainder of our Lenten series, and then again on Easter Sunday, and into our season of Easter. Holy Week plans are still underway. Please check our weekly eSpires and Sunday bulletins for the latest.

Join Us Easter Sunday:

- 6:30 am Sunrise Service – Under the cross on the front lawn of our main sanctuary, or inside if it's raining.
- 9:15 am Sanctuary Service
- 10:15 am Contemporary Service in McComas Hall

Church Closed on Easter Monday, April 18

APRIL 2022

For quite some time now, masks have been optional except for singing. We've decided that all mask wearing may be optional. This was not an easy decision. We've tried to be so careful and cautious throughout this pandemic to protect the most vulnerable among us. As we move forward, we want you to know that masks are always encouraged. Please feel comfortable in worship with or without a mask. Do what is best for your health. In the meantime, let's make Jesus proud by continuing to love one another as he has loved us.

Sermon By Phone 410-800-4472

"Sermon By Phone" allows people to call in and hear the scripture reading and sermon. The information will be updated on a weekly basis.

If you know of someone who could benefit from this, please pass along the information.

Helping you stay connected while we are apart.

Ready for Planting? Consider Native Plants

Finally, Spring! And the joys of watching God's plan for new growth, new birth, new life! As you plan your landscaping and gardens this year, why not consider using native plants? The Maryland Native Plant Society provides a free guide, "Landscaping with Native Plants", that can be downloaded from their website, Maryland Native Plant Society - Home \(mdflora.org\). In the NATIVE GARDENING section of the site, you can find a number of related links, including how to shop for native plants, native plant nurseries, and a list of resources to help answer all of your questions, along with an "Ask the Expert" link.

What is a native plant? A native plant is one that grows in a particular region without direct human intervention. On this continent, the plants that were established before European and African settlement are usually considered native species. Native plants and animals that have evolved together often depend on one another for their survival and reproduction.

Why landscape with native plants? Native plants are the foundation of a healthy, functioning ecosystem. For example, most birds feed insects to their young and our native insects require native plants in order to develop. Unfortunately, many urban and suburban landscapes are filled with non-native plants that support very little biodiversity. Some examples of these non-native, invasive plants to avoid are Bradford pear, Leyland cypress, burning bush and Japanese barberry. Native plants and the wildlife communities they support are being lost to development, invasive plants, deer browsing, and introduced pests and diseases. The good news is that we can do something about that by planting a diversity of beautiful and life-sustaining plant species in our own yards.

By planting native plants, you provide food and habitat for native wildlife, thus bringing a bit of ecological balance back to the small piece of the planet you care for. Once established, a well-chosen native plant usually doesn't need much care because it is adapted to grow in our native soils. And you will have the pleasure of watching birds, butterflies, and other creatures in your own backyard, while learning about the plants of your region.

For a list of local nurseries that sell native plants, go to <https://bit.ly/BAUMCNativePlantNurseries>. Many provide perennials, vines, shrubs and trees. Happy Planting!
