

August 18, 2022

MAIN STREET PRESERVATION TRUST WELCOMES DIANA WEST AS EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

Diana West Brings Experience and Passion

(Gloucester, VA) Main Street Preservation Trust announces the arrival of experienced nonprofit executive Diana West as the new Executive Director.

West first came to Gloucester in 1994, visiting Brent and Becky's – planning what her family still calls "the daffodil wedding." Diana loves all daffodils, but her favorites are doubles, jonquils, and tazettas. West comes to Gloucester with more than 20 years of experience in the non-profit world, primarily in the education and museum sectors. Most recently, Diana was the director of programs and communications for a new tall ship museum in Alexandria, where she conducted the research, designed all the visitor programs, handled the marketing and communications, and even wrote a one-act play.

Adrienne Joseph, founder and Chair of Main Street Preservation Trust said, "We are excited to have someone truly competent and committed to supporting and invigorating our Main Street. Her understanding of how the preservation of our historic village and the need for a thriving Main Street environment is essential. Main Street Preservation Trust, the business and property owners, our entire community, and visitors alike are all working towards a brighter future for Gloucester."

Originally from the Midwest, Diana spent part of her childhood in a small town in southern Illinois. Her interest in historic preservation was ignited in high school when her family moved to the Central West End of St. Louis and she saw the restorations and renovations taking place all around her.

"It is exciting to be invited to come to Gloucester and to once again be a part of small-town life is tremendously appealing. The people, the pace of life, and our beautiful environment here on the Chesapeake watershed are extraordinary. I look forward to supporting and extending MSPT's involvement in the community and our designated Main Street continues to be a source of pride for all."

Diana is a graduate of Wellesley College with a BA in American Studies, and earned a Master's in Government from William and Mary.

###

For additional information, please contact Main Street Preservation Trust at 804.824.9614. Or email Diana West at Diana@mspt.org