Service types available

General Mental Health and Substance Use (GMH/SU) Providers

You start with these providers to access the behavioral health system. They complete a full assessment of the member. They work with the member and family to decide on the type of services needed. Clinical expertise varies by location.

Substance Abuse Block Grant (SABG) for non-AHCCCS eligible members (Non-Title 19)

This service is for those needing substance use disorder treatment who don't qualify for Medicaid/AHCCCS. Several providers offer this treatment. They see pregnant and parenting women, women with dependent children and injection drug using females and males first. SABG services aren't just limited to these groups.

Psychiatric services and medication management

Psychiatric providers are usually at GMH/SU provider locations. Medication management and psychiatric evaluation services are decided on by the member in partnership with their clinical team.

Medication Assisted Treatment (MAT)

MAT is an alternative medication treatment for opioid substance use disorders. It's used with counseling or behavioral therapies. Coordination of care between the MAT providers and other providers offers the best treatment options.

Substance use disorder residential treatment

Need is determined by clinical assessment. Criteria from the American Society of Addiction Medicine (ASAM) assessment are used to determine the need for this level of care.

Residential treatment varies from 60 to 120 days. It's more intensive than outpatient treatment. Residential treatment is provided in the least restrictive setting.

Note: Some facilities are for men or women only.

Eating disorder treatment

These services are available as residential and intensive outpatient.

Note: Mercy Care RBHA members need prior authorization for residential eating disorder treatment.
