

New U.S. Policy Director

We are excited to announce a new addition to the Cities Initiative's staff. Travis Wheeler joined the organization on May 9 as our new U.S. Policy Director. Travis will be replacing Matt Doss, who retired at the end of June.

A graduate of Tufts University with a Master of Arts in Law and Diplomacy, Travis comes to us with a plethora of legislative and policy experience.

Travis most recently served as Legislative Director to Congressman Frank J. Mrvan (D-IN) where he was responsible for all environmental and energy files.

Travis also served as a Legislative Assistant to former Congressman Peter Visclosky (D-IN), the former Chair of the House Appropriations Subcommittee on Energy and Water Development. His deep knowledge of the inner workings of Capitol Hill will allow our organization to gain further traction with legislative initiatives important to all of us. He is a policy development expert that knows how to get things done. Please feel free to reach out to Travis at twheeler@glslcities.org

While we are excited about Travis joining our organization, we are also sad to see Matt Doss depart. Matt has been an integral part of our success over the last three years. He has spent his entire career in the water space and leaves behind a true legacy of accomplishments important to the Great Lakes and the St. Lawrence River Basin.
