Join us for a North County post-election recap as we look at local, state and federal elections in North County and what the 2022 results mean for the future of our region.

We are joined by one of San Diego county's best-known political pollsters, John Nienstedt, who will break down the results and what they mean for North County's future. If you are interested in government affairs or politics, this is one Lunch and Learn not to miss.
