

Hello Peace UCC Community,

While my goals and interests change over time, my overall goals are to be happy, to do good in my community, and to pursue education. My current objectives to work toward those goals are to complete my M.A./M.S. in clinical and quantitative psychology at Ball State University in Indiana and to pursue my doctoral degree in clinical, health, or clinical health psychology. I want to work with a mentor researching not only various psychopathologies, but also exploring the connection between physical and mental health, treatment access, and aspects of diversity. After I complete my doctorate, my intention is to work both in academia and in clinical practice, ideally with individuals with internalizing difficulties, sleep pathology, chronic pain, and autoimmune disease.

My current interests and hobbies (aside from the many hours I spend on my graduate program – as this takes up the majority of my time) include spending time with my partner Collin, exploring outdoors, calling my family members, and taking my pups Buddy and Peanut for many walks and trips to the park!

Thank you for reading more about my interests and goals, and for all of the love and support you have provided me throughout my life!

Sincerely,
Chloe Woodling
