

MIT Sloan Sports Analytics Mentorship Program

presented by Wasserman

The MIT Sloan Sports Analytics Conference, in partnership with Wasserman, is launching a mentorship program focused on increasing diversity in the sports industry.

Program application

The MIT Sloan Sports Analytics Conference is committed to supporting diversity, equity, and inclusion. This program is geared towards people from underrepresented populations with an interest in working in sports. To apply, complete and submit this online application as soon as possible (application link)

Program details

- Each mentee will be paired with a professional currently working in the sports industry
- Personalized mentee/mentor conversations from March 2021 through August 2021
- Includes complimentary access to the 2021 MIT Sloan Sports Analytics Conference. More details on the Conference available here (<https://www.sloansportsconference.com/>)
- Applicants will be selected based on their demonstrated interest in the sports industry from their responses to the short answer question in the online application
- Mentee / mentor pairings will be finalized in March