The Inscription in the Window

When Sylvie Briber and her husband Bob moved to the Stockade, they learned of a curious inscription in a window. This led to research at the Schenectady County Historical Society and a treasure hunt that developed into a series of stories. A secret dollhouse, famous tea parties, a hidden railroad, and old portraits are all part of this wonderful book based on early Schenectady history.

Sylvie Briber has a BA in English from Hartwick College and a degree in Apparel Design from the Fashion Institute in New York City. She has taught in the Schenectady City School District and worked for the New York State Education Department. She edited The Stockade Spy for 19 years.
