

ACEC Texas Presents Representative Todd Hunter with the “Champion of Infrastructure” Award for the 89th Legislature

Austin, TX – The American Council of Engineering Companies of Texas (ACEC Texas) is pleased to recognize Representative Todd Hunter (R-Corpus Christi) with the Champion of Infrastructure Award for his work on behalf of Texas engineering firms during the 2025 Legislative Session.

The Champion of Infrastructure Award recognizes elected officials who support the engineering business community by promoting policies that encourage infrastructure development and create a fair, business-friendly environment in the State of Texas. The award recipients are chosen by the members of the ACEC Texas Public Policy Council.

Representative Hunter has served the Corpus Christi and Coastal Bend region in the Texas House of Representatives for several terms, having been first elected in 1988 and then again in 2008. He serves as Chairman of the House Committee on Calendars, leading the efforts on managing legislation and state priorities that move through the legislative process.

“Chairman Hunter has been a steadfast supporter of Texas engineering firms and a champion for local businesses in his district,” said ACEC Texas President Peyton McKnight. “He truly understands what is vital for our state’s future, including investing in infrastructure and prioritizing economic development. We are thrilled to recognize him as a Champion of Infrastructure.”

ACEC Texas is the business association of Texas engineering firms. The organization is committed to advancing the private practice of consulting engineering, enhancing markets for private engineering services, educating the public on the importance of infrastructure investment, and promoting sound business practices within the industry and its client base.
