

Sgt. Simon Kiser

Male Mentor

I have been married for 22 years to my amazing and beautiful wife, Stephanie. Today, we are proud parents of five daughters and one son, ranging in ages from 20 to 4. My children continue to teach me better ways to love. My wife and I have been involved in supporting pregnancy resource centers throughout our marriage.

When I was 8 years old at a Christian summer camp, I invited Jesus into my life to be my Lord and Savior. I am blessed to have had parents who raised me and my five siblings to each love Jesus and our spouse and taught us that children are gifts.

I served in the Army Military Police Corps and then cross trained into Special Operations where I served in Iraq and received a Bronze Star with “V” device for valor in combat. I traveled all over the world where I saw too many innocent people affected by the choices of evil men.

I recently became a volunteer male mentor at Daybreak, because I saw a great need for young men to be offered biblical leadership by older men who are faith-filled husbands and fathers. I love every opportunity I am given at Daybreak to share Jesus and encourage men to support their partners through unexpected pregnancies.

One morning at Daybreak, a couple came in for an ultrasound appointment. While the young woman was with the Daybreak nurse, I met with her boyfriend, “Joe”. He told me that he had decided days before that he wanted his girlfriend to have an abortion and that she agreed. I spoke to him about the sanctity of life, fatherhood and about our Father in heaven. I let “Joe” know, that as a Daybreak male mentor, I would be there for him and that he was not alone. I assured him that he can do this – become a Godly father – and that Daybreak will be here to support him and his entire family throughout the pregnancy and after the baby is born.

At the end of our meeting, with tears streaming down his right cheek, the nurse called “Joe” into the sonogram room to view the ultrasound with his girlfriend. It was a little while after they left Daybreak that the nurse told me that they had changed their minds and that they were going to parent their baby. I walked into the Male Mentor office and fell on my knees, face on the carpet, weeping and thanking the Lord that the child in the young lady’s womb was not going to be aborted, but that life was chosen. To God be the glory!

To the Godly fathers in our community: We need you! We need your wisdom and experience to minister to our male clients! If you feel God is calling you to become a Daybreak Male Mentor, go to: <https://friendsofdaybreak.org/volunteer-opportunities/volunteer-application/> and fill out the volunteer application. As a Daybreak Male Mentor, you will be blessed and so will our male clients!
