Transitions

Use at the beginning of each middle paragraph and the conclusion to help organize writing

I Kids should not have to do homework. It is hard for kids to get their homework done because they don't have a lot of time or anyone to help them at home.

R1 First, kids shouldn't have to do homework because they don't have much free time. Some kids have sports after school. Other kids might have music practice.

R2 Second, kids shouldn't have to do homework because sometimes there is no one at home to help them. Parents don't always know how to help kids with math homework.

C In conclusion, I don't think kids should have homework. They have too much to do, and their parents can't always help them.

