Introduction Paragraph

Wouldn't it be incredible if you were allowed, just for one night, to be a little kid again? Imagine running around with your friends, dressed up in your favorite super hero cape, shoveling as much candy as can fit into your mouth as you play all sorts of games. That would be the best, right? Well, guess what? That night actually does exist. It's called Halloween. On October 31st, people of all ages, young and old, get to pretend that they are kids again.
