

Revenue's Fast File Pilot Helps Nearly 2,000 Pennsylvanians File their PA Tax Returns

By Pat Browne, Secretary of Revenue

As part of our continued commitment to improving customer service, the Department of Revenue launched a new Fast File initiative during the recent personal income tax season. This pilot program offered eligible Pennsylvanians a free and simplified way to file their PA Personal Income Tax Returns (PA-40s).

We are pleased to report that nearly 2,000 Pennsylvanians submitted their 2025 PA-40s through Fast File, and feedback has been overwhelmingly positive. The overall rating for Fast File was 4.7 out of 5. Additionally, we're energized by some comments from taxpayers who used the system.

- “Really loved this system. Thanks for making this available.”
- “Very straight forward and easy to use. Happy to have this tool in the future.”
- “Easy. Quick. Great!!”
- “So easy. It almost makes filing my PA taxes enjoyable! HA!”
- “This is this the best thing ever! So glad the Commonwealth offers this service, made the process extremely easy. Thank you.”

As a reminder, Fast File allowed qualifying residents — primarily single filers with one W-2 and no additional deductions or credits — to complete their PA-40 directly through myPATH. When users logged in, their employer-reported W-2 information was already uploaded — eliminating the need to manually enter wage and withholding data. This made the filing process easy to complete in just a few simple steps.

Fast File is part of a broader effort within our agency to continue modernizing our operations and provide new customer service tools for our taxpayers. This is another example of the innovative work that our agency routinely does to improve services for the Pennsylvanians we serve.

As we continue to assess how the pilot program functioned in its first year, we're considering whether Fast File can be expanded and offered to additional taxpayers in future tax seasons. We will continue to prioritize projects that make our agency and the resources we offer more responsive, modern, and easier to navigate.
