More Library Access

Library Expands In-Person Service Hours

Sonoma County Library is moving to the next stage of its Express Services model. Library doors are now open at 50 percent capacity, with a variety of service hours to meet visitors' needs. There is no time limit for visits, and reservations are no longer needed (except for the Sonoma County History & Genealogy Library).

"Express Services will allow those who have limited access to our online library, or who miss their in-person library experience, to join us in reopening gradually and safely," said Sonoma County Library Director Ann Hammond.

Curbside service is still available by request during in-person open hours, with additional curbside hours at regional libraries.

Beginning May 24, in-person services hours are as follows:
