Optometry clinic opens at the Mexican Universidad Autónoma de la Laguna

Congratulations to the optometry program at the Universidad Autónoma de la Laguna and its active SVOSH-UAL chapter on the inauguration of their clinic last March 7th. The clinic was equipped with donations from VOSH/International Technology Transfer Program (TTP) and became a reality through the incredibly hard work of TTP's chair, Dr Stacy, and the optometry program coordinator, Optometrist Beatriz Gomez who persevered to bring the donation into the school. Students at UAL were enthusiastically involved in cleaning and setting up the equipment.

The clinic will serve students for their practices and the community of La Laguna to access quality optometric services. You can read an article in Spanish here and enjoy more pictures below.
