Resources for Families Affected by Recent Changes to Temporary Protected Status (TPS)

The Supreme Court's June 25, 2026 decision allowing the Trump Administration to proceed with the termination of Temporary Protected Status (TPS) has created uncertainty for many Haitian and Syrian individuals and families. This page provides information on legal assistance, healthcare, education, workers' rights, and other services that may be available.

Community Support Toolkit & How to Request ORI Community Support

The state's Office for Refugees and Immigrants has compiled practical resources designed to help communities support immigrant families in crisis. Click the link here or below to find tools focused on family emergencies, legal assistance, housing, healthcare, benefits, and more.

Emergency Assistance Resources

The United Way of Massachusetts Bay created the United Response Fund to mobilize increased resources to address the significant disruption and urgent needs that immigrant neighbors are experiencing. They will deploy emergency financial assistance to individuals and families to ensure they can access basic needs such as food, housing, healthcare and childcare and will provide support to organizations on the front lines.
