DEVELOPMENT OVERVIEW

DEVELOPMENT CONCEPT

The current draft plan contemplates 88 freehold residential lots intended for detached dwellings and a dedicated ~8.0-acre seniors' townhouse condominium block designed to accommodate 32 bungalow-loft units, providing a total development concept of 120 residential units. The detached lots have been designed with a minimum lot area of ~0.35 acres to support the proposed low-density housing form and private wastewater servicing.

SERVICING

As municipal sanitary sewer service is not currently available in Bourget, the detached lots are intended to use individual private septic systems, while a communal private wastewater system is proposed for the seniors' condominium block. Stormwater would be directed through the proposed subdivision infrastructure to the north and south stormwater management ponds.

LOCATION OVERVIEW

BOURGET

Bourget is an established rural village within the City of Clarence-Rockland, surrounded by agricultural lands, residential neighbourhoods and local commercial uses. The Property is ~20 minutes from both Rockland and Casselman, 16 minutes from Highway 417 and 35 minutes from downtown Ottawa, providing convenient access to employment, shopping, services and regional amenities.

Within Bourget, residential and commercial activity is concentrated along Laval Street and Champlain Road, the community's primary thoroughfare. Rockland, the principal urban centre within Clarence-Rockland, offers a broad range of grocery stores, restaurants, retail and professional services, schools, healthcare facilities, recreational amenities and waterfront parks along the Ottawa River.

Casselman is a growing employment and logistics hub along Highway 417, anchored by Ford's ~500,000 SF parts distribution centre, which serves the company's Ontario and Quebec markets.
